New Model: Absolute 64 Fly

Absolute yachts has in one of the most difficult period for the nautical industry shown its great resolute by updating its model range with a certain importance and timely manner at the important boat shows. The 64 Fly has been a long awaited project from this North Italian boat, more or less about two years and is an important strategic model for Absolute filling the gap in size between the new 56 updated version of the nice 55, and its flagship 72 model. The 64 Fly is based on the hull of the 64 STY. Non the less what the Fly takes seems only to be the running surfaces and lower part of the hull, because for the rest it offers total differences in looks and interior layout. One of the great bonuses of the 64 Fly will be its four cabin layout, fourth cabin with bunk berths. An interesting feature is also its very larger yacht look and feel, see deep walk around bulwarks, and central wrap around radar arch in the flybridge. But with this Absolute still manages to present a modern presence thanks to the huge glass surfaces which round the main deck interior area. Power options are twin Volvo 725hp or optional 900hp units.
